PREDICTS REFORM IN DRUG STORES

Head of Local Branch Attacks Those Lax in Safeguarding Health.

CONFERENCE GRANTS SUPPORT TO ACCUSED

Takes Ground That All Retailers Are Concerned with Welfare of Alleged Violators.

Drug stores will refuse absolutely to sell patent medicines and "household remedies" not endorsed by the Board of Health if certain members of the New York Pharmaceutical Conference, which held a special meeting yesterday afternoon at the College of Pharmacy, on West Sixth-street, have their way. John Roemer, of White Plains, president of the New York branch of the American Pharmaceutical Association, was greeted with applause when he expressed this opinion.

"The question of the safety of the public in its hands. It violates the confidence of state and nation every time it countenances the sale of any patent medicine," he said. "The safety of the public in its hands. It violates the confidence of state and nation every time it countenances the sale of any patent medicine," he said.

The special meeting of the conference was held to consider the cases of George Lawrence and George Menckne, Brooklyn druggists recently summoned to court for retailing packages of "household remedies" in violation of a Board of Health ordinance.

The specific offense was the sale of a package known as Barton's Diphtheria Antidote, whose label stated that its use would cure diphtheria. The druggists, whose case will be heard next week, appeared before the conference to ask that body to engage counsel for their defense, on the ground that their welfare was intimately connected with every retail druggist in the city.

The conference voted to take up their case, Mr. Roemer alone dissenting. Peter Diamond and Joseph Weinstein, prominent local retailers, endorsed the Board of Health's campaign against quack medicines, but gave it as their opinion that the manufacturer was the party to be held responsible for violations of the ordinance and not the wholesaler or retailer. Many of the retail druggists, they said, were selling in sealed packages with the illegal statement inside; therefore it was unfair to hold the middlemen responsible.

Dr. Norman B. Kerr, of the Charles N. Crittenton Company, which company was charged with wholesaling articles in violation of the health ordinance, said he was in favor of standardizing patent medicines and dropping from the lists those which every one knew were objectionable.

Menckne stated that he carried only drugs which were guaranteed by the Federal pure food and drug act. He insisted that it was impossible to live up to the city ordinance. Clarence O. Bigelow, proprietor of a store at Sixth Avenue and Eighth Street, said that druggists were merely distributors.

"We have no interest in the consumer," he added, "we merely sell."

SIEGEL'S HEARING PUT OFF A WEEK

Genesee, N. Y., June 14.—Charles D. Newton, state senator, appeared before Justice Clark this morning at the opening of the June term of the Supreme Court to request that the hearing of Henry Siegel, convicted of a misdemeanor last fall for misuse of funds of the private bank in the Fourteenth Street Store, be postponed until June 21.

Dean Embree, Assistant District Attorney, said he was ready to go with the case, but consented to the adjournment. Justice Clark granted the request, but said that seven months was plenty of time to prepare for trial.

COTTON IRREGULAR, CLOSING LOWER

The cotton market was very quiet yesterday and fluctuations were irregular within a range of some 6 or 7 points, with the close steady at a net decline of from 2 to 5 points.

The market opened steady at a decline of from 1 to 3 points, which was better than due on the cables as a result of some further scattered covering or local support of much the same character as that noted toward the end of last week.

The steady opening of the stock market seemed to help cotton, but prices soon eased off under some foreign selling and scattered realizing, with active months working about 5 or 7 points net lower. Rather heavy rains were reported in the central belt, and there was some further talk of grassy fields, but there was very little criticism of weather conditions over the belt as a whole, and a rally to about Saturday's closing figures was followed by another setback during the afternoon. The close was within 2 or 3 points of the lowest.

The census figures on supply and distribution failed to create any fresh sentiment. Domestic mill consumption for the month of April aggregated 495,077 bales of lint and 49,844 bales of linters, comparing with 466,744 and 26,877 for the same month last year. For the first ten months of the season the consumption of lint cotton has amounted to 4,855,322 bales, and the total, including linters, has been about 4,880,000 bales. Should consumption for the months of June and July equal the May figures, the total of lint and linters for the season will aggregate 5,950,000 bales. The bullish showing as to consumption, however, was modified to some extent by the comparative large stocks of raw material in the hands of manufacturers, exceeding last year's by about 450,000 bales, and local spot reports that there is little or no demand from either exporters or domestic mills, except in the case of a few specialties from the Carolinas.

Private cables reported some Continental selling in Liverpool, and houses with Liverpool connections may have had a few selling orders here during the early trading, generally speaking, however, business was local, and traders are waiting for a better view of the acreage, a later view of new crop prospects or for more settled political conditions. Exports for the day were 18,844 bales, making 7,982,198 bales so far this season. Southern spot markets points at New Orleans.
